

The NUJ in continental Europe

Welcome to the site of the NUJ's CEC!

The NUJ - National Union of Journalists (Great Britain and Ireland) - is among the biggest and best-established journalists' unions in the world, with 35,000 members. While the majority of members are based in GB and Ireland, the NUJ also has active branches in Belgium , France and the Netherlands, and hundreds more members scattered across continental Europe.

This site is run by the NUJ's Continental European Council, to which all the active branches on continental Europe elect delegates. You will find services and information specifically tailored to the needs of NUJ members living and working in continental Europe, but also many items of interest to journalists in general.